GRAND OPENING . . . Grand opening ceremonies will be conducted Saturday for these businesses, the Candle-Lite Gown Shoppe (left) at 2109 Torrance Blvd., and Ron's located next door. Latest fashions in bridal wear will be shown by the Candle-Lite and distinctive decorative items for home and special occasions will be featured by Ron's. Door prizes will be awarded and refreshments served all day, the owners said.

Cape Mendocino, California, and Cape Flattery, Washington, each stand 700 feet above the Pacific, and are our two highest sea cliffs.

Double Grand Opening Scheduled Saturday for Two New Businesses

A joint grand opening Saturday of the Candle-Lite Gown Shoppe, a specially dress shop in Torrance featuring bridal gowns, lodge and prom formal, and Ron's, specialists in decorative items for home and special occasions, was announced this week by the owners.

The Candle-Lite Gown Shoppe, which commenced business here last June, moved into larger and more beautiful quarters at 2109 Torrance Blvd., next door to their former place of business. The owners, Mrs. Alice Clark of Torrance, and Wanda Lambert, also of Torrance, said they will serve cake, punch and coffee Saturday during their grand opening.

Two new departments have recently been added to the shop, they said, which include half-size Mothers Dresses and a corset and glove department.

Opening next door to the Candle-Lite is Ron's, owned by Ron and Carmen Power. This is a new addition to Torrance business and it will specialize in offering decorative pieces for home such as driftwood, waterfalls, indoor plants, articles, and mosaic supplies.

Door prizes and refreshments will be served all day, they said.

. . . YMCA

George Heaton, chairman of the Advance, Gifts Division, with raising $20,000 from industrial and profession concerns. More than 100 citizens joined the YMCA's Century Club by contributing $100 toward local Y youth work for 1960. Thirty-six men and women served as YMCA Campaigners on this special division.

Stanley Remelmeier served as chairman of the large general campaign, with nearly 200 parents, businessmen, and friends of the "Y" working to collect funds to support 217 Torrance YMCA clubs with over 4000 boy and girl members.

REMELEYER reported that Leonard Kane, William Poser, Ed Escovar and Gilbert Anderson were among the top producers for this large section of the Y Drive.

The Torrance Fire-Fighters deserve a special note of praise for their giant boost to the 1960 YMCA Campaign. Under the leadership of Richard De Armit and Sam Martin, the local firemen donated many night of off-duty time to conducting the Y's first door-to-door drive. Thus far, the Fire-Fighters have turned $4108 over to the YMCA. Without their help, the YMCA would not have been able to operate its full-scale camping program for more than 1100 boys and girls from six through high school and college.
